

What is your patient really trying to tell you?

64% of people who attempt suicide visit their doctor during the month before their attempt.

Doctor visits can be critical points of intervention with a patient who is considering suicide.

