

Apply to join the Quality Improvement Council

The Quality Improvement Council is a leadership development program that connects public health advocates with skills to build stronger public health systems.

The mission of the Quality Improvement Council is to grow a culture of quality improvement (QI) in Public Health Services (PHS).

To grow a culture of QI, the Council works on the following strategies:

- Leadership Commitment
- QI Infrastructure
- Employee Empowerment and Commitment
- Customer Focus
- Teamwork and Collaboration
- Continuous Process Improvement

Council members who serve a full term will earn demonstrable skills, experience, and an expanded network for enhancing work flow and leadership capacity. If selected, you will:

- Gain knowledge through QI training.
- Apply knowledge and hone skills through teamwork on QI projects.
- Transfer knowledge and skills to staff in your administration.

The annual application for the QI Council is open at the beginning of each year. All employees within MDH's PHS branch, including Local Health Departments, are eligible to apply.
