Public Burden Statement: An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control number for this project is 0906-0038. Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 120 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to HRSA Reports

Maryland Independent Method Overview

1. Obtain raw, data for each indicator at the most granular level (either census tract, zip code or county level) from the listed data source as defined in Table 2. Description of Indicators.
2. Compute mean for each jurisdiction and standard deviation (SD) for each indicator as well as other descriptive statistics (number of missing, range, etc.) (Table 3. Descriptive Statistics).
3. Standardize indicator values (compute z-score) for each jurisdiction by comparing the jurisdiction-level mean to the overall state mean for each indicator so that all indicators have a mean of 0 and a SD of 1. $Z\text{-score} = (\text{indicator jurisdiction mean} - \text{overall indicator state-level mean}) / \text{SD}$. (Tab 5. Standardized Indicators).
4. Using the resulting z-scores for each jurisdiction, calculate the proportion of indicators within each domain for which that county's z-score was greater than 1, that is, the proportion of indicators for which a given county is in the 'worst' 16% of all counties in the state (16% is the percentage of values greater than 1 SD above the mean in the standard normal distribution). If at least half of the indicators within a domain have z-scores greater or equal to 1 SD higher than the mean, then a jurisdiction is considered at-risk. The total number of indicators at-risk is summed to capture the counties at highest risk across domains. All counties with at least two raised indicators are identified as at risk. Though risk was looked at by domains, based on feedback from stakeholders in Maryland as long as a county had two raised indicators it was considered at risk, regardless of what domain the indicators fell in (Tab 6. At-Risk Domains).
5. Maryland's indicators included 11 indicators related to adverse prenatal outcomes, and three indicators having to do with Child Maltreatment. Different to the simplified method, because of the importance of all the different indicators to Maryland's stakeholders, a county was ultimately identified as being "at-risk" as long as at least two indicators were raised, rather than an indicator in more than one domain (Tab 7. At-Risk Jurisdictions)
6. The percent of elevated indicators overall (Tab 7.1- % Elevated Indicators) and the percent of risk across indicators by jurisdiction (Tab 7.2 % Risk Across Ind by Juri.) was calculated to identify most prevalent needs within jurisdictions as they related to each indicator.
